

Luke Madams

Composer & Pianist

ONE-LINE BIO

A UK-based composer and pianist writing for solo piano, chamber ensembles, and theatre.

CONTACT

contact@lukemadams.co.uk

www.lukemadams.co.uk

youtube.com/@lukemadams

Biography

Luke Madams is a UK-based composer and pianist working across solo piano, chamber music, and theatre. He studied Composition to master's level (Distinction) at Goldsmiths, University of London, under Roger Redgate and Jeremy Peyton Jones, with research into polytemporality, spectralism, and the algorithmic and stochastic techniques of Iannis Xenakis. He completed his undergraduate degree in Music at Canterbury Christ Church University with First-Class Honours, piano as first study.

Luke is a former LSO Soundhub Associate Composer and a recipient of a Sound and Music Composer Award. His most significant work to date has been composing for Quiet Songs, a Finn Beames & Company production staged at the Barbican Centre and nominated for a Stage Award. His music has featured on BBC Sounds, and his chamber piece By Degrees is published in the CoMA (Contemporary Music for All) catalogue.

Alongside composing, Luke maintains an active teaching practice and is currently building an independent catalogue of recorded solo piano work for licensing and broadcast.

Short bio

"A former LSO Soundhub Associate Composer and Sound and Music Award recipient, working across solo piano, chamber music, and theatre – including Quiet Songs at the Barbican."

Key credits

- MMus Composition (Distinction) – Goldsmiths, University of London
- BMus Music (First-Class Honours) – Canterbury Christ Church University
- LSO Soundhub Former Associate Composer
- Sound and Music Composer Award recipient
- Composer, Quiet Songs (Finn Beames & Company) – Barbican Centre, Stage Award nominee
- BBC Sounds – music featured
- By Degrees – published via CoMA (Contemporary Music for All)

Links

Website: lukemadams.co.uk YouTube: @lukemadams

Email: contact@lukemadams.co.uk

Press & performance enquiries welcome.